“ Billy and I meet 20 years ago! We had are up and downs but, no matter what we have always work threw them! Over the past 20 years after we both had relationships with other people and at the end when they didn't work out we would always end up back where we left off!! He was sweet, caring, loving and most of funny person!! He loved to make people laugh!!! He always seem to be the life of the party!!! Right when he got sick we was making plans to see each other that week that he got the pink eye!! I know I will for always miss him and love him just has much my children will!! I am so sorry, sending prayers to the family and his kids and my condolence to Gary, Debbie and his mom and other family!!! I hope that y'all can find so peace with what is going! Myself I'm having hard time right now to find peace with him not here!!!

“ Billy and I met though friends we dated a little and in 2001 in a Tattoo parlor Billy took my hand and asked me to marry him, like a crazy person I said yes, 2 weeks later Billy ans I were married.. sadly 6months later Billy and were Divorced it wasnt Meant to be.. we were better off just friend and so that is were we needed to be.. over the years we talked on and off keeping in touch and once in a while checking on each other. I was apart off the BBw family for a while and that was Billy's home away from home for years. He had a kind heart for the most part and a friend to many fly high Billy some day we will see each other again, may you rest in peace..

“ Billy and I were great friends during our teenage years. I have many memories. One that comes to mind was when Billy was stationed at Ft. Riley Kansas. I was getting ready to go to basic training. I had hair that went halfway down my back. I didn't really want to go in that way. Billy told me that he wanted to be the one to cut it. Of course I agreed. So, the week before I was going to leave, I drove all the way out there. That night, I sat down at the table. His wife put it in a ponytail and gave Billy the scissors. After a moment of silence, I turn around and Billy had big tears welling up in his eyes and said " I just can't do it". Needless to say, his wife had to finish the task! He must have loved my hair as much as I did! Lol! Later, when I got married, of coarse i asked him to be in the wedding. I sure will miss you brother! You were one of the good ones!
