“ Most of everyone on here may not know me but that’s okay. I don’t even know how to put anything in to words. I’m shattered, Bruno wasn’t my father biological but to me, growing up he was the only father figure I had known at the time & he was like a father to me. It breaks my heart but now I have to watch my bestest friend ever lose someone who means the world to her! I never know what to say in these types of speakers but I want you all to know that I am here, every single day! I’m just a drive, a call, a message, hell even a FaceTime away & I will be here for each & every one of you bc you guys are my family❤️ I know words can never make anything feel better when things like this happens but I will be here to pick each & everyone of you up everyday bc I know that Bruno would want that! & ya know if anything, live the rest of your life for him bc he’d want that! I know I could probably never make things how they used to be but I’d ALWAYS come over to eat hot dogs w hot sauce & sit at the livingroom table and watch a movie with you guys everyday if I need too lol like we use too! Remember if you need anything, I will ALWAYS be here!!!! I love you all so much❤️

“ This is to share a memory I have so many memories with Bruno and the family I can't just share one and the man definitely knew how to tell you he cared without having to say it he showed it many talks on the front porch at the picnic table at the dollar store many conversations with a caring person who definitely love his family and friends, so I'll just share this... Bruno you are deeply missed by so many and that is a fact!!!

“ I have so many memories of Bruno! He Susie and the girls lived across the street from us for years and every single day when he got home from work it never failed he would always say hi! I remember one day I was at their house and he was showing off his guitar he was so proud! He was a hard rocker!! He always had a smile and something nice to say and never passed up a chance to chat. He was genuine and everyone who knew him is now living in a world a little less brighter with out him in it.
