“ How lucky am I. This is not a question. More of a statement really. Thank you for your years of friendship and love Cathy, and of course Ron. You both always made sure I knew you cared.

Keeping me up-to-date with the latest local happenings from a town you knew I so deeply loved and missed. Taking the time to send newspaper clippings you thought I'd enjoy. And the letters... Cathy, I hear your voice plain as day even as I reread them just now. So special. And despite the fact that I was the worst at reciprocating... you continued to send your love. Although, I did enjoy surprising you with a random phone call. I'm only sorry it had been so long since I had.

One of my fondest memories of my last trip home to Frankfort, was coming out to the farm to spend the day with you and Ron. That was the day I captured the attached. You and Ron had the most beautiful relationship. It was always such a gift to spend time with you both. So much love and care for each other. Ron, I am so deeply sorry for your loss. If ever you need an ear, perhaps I am awake when others are not. Love you Cathy. Love you Ron. xxxxx

“ I am saddened by Cathy's passing. Having known her since our teen years, we reconnected when she was providing free eggs to the women's shelter. I'm glad we got to spend some fun times together in our 50s and 60s and I'm going to miss getting her cards in the mail - she was great about acknowledging events with cards. My heart goes out to Hock and Fred and the whole family. I'm very sorry she's left us all too early.
