“ I knew Chris in high school, and always liked him, but it was the two summers we worked together at Justus Mine that bring me the best memories of him. We had some great times, and even greater laughs together. Perhaps too many of them were at his expense, but he was always a good sport about it. I was so shocked when I learned of his passing, but more so I was deeply saddened. The world lost an A-1 person that day, and I will miss him terribly. Lisa, I'm keeping a good thought always for you and your children.

“ So sorry for your loss Lisa , I was at work when I found out about Chris and the guys around me new that something was wrong by the look on my face and tone in my voice ; oh my god I said Chris is gone , couldn't believe it hit me like a ton of bricks . I hadn't been around Chris and his family over the years but he was one of those people that left a lasting impression on me ; great family Man , loving husband and great dad . I would always tell him that I was going to kick his butt and he would say oh please !!!! Lisa you know what I'm talking about lol... Saw Chris at about a year ago and hadn't seen him in years but it was like we had just saw each other the day before ; he was just one of those people that it was easy to be around. Lisa and Chris was the true love story you couldn't find two people more in love with each other ... Lisa you have lost your soul mate and best friend hang in there lean on your family and friends they will be there for you , this I know some day you will be with him again .

This is a great memory of me and my bro back in the good ole days. He liked to tease me back in the day by calling me Rhoda 😊 He also liked to hide and scare me 😬 And in addition to being funny and cool, he was one of the most selfless people I have known. He gave everything of himself to his family and was deeply generous with his time and resources to help anybody who needed it . I will always love and appreciate Chris for not only being an amazing husband to my sister, but being an amazing son in law to my mother . Grace and Nick love their cool Uncle Chris and we will miss you so!
