“ I had the pleasure of taking care of Josh on A5 Day Hospital as a PCA. He was one of my favorite patients because of his great jokes, sunny disposition, and sweet attitude. I am thinking and praying for you both and Zach during this difficult time.

“ From one parent to another, my heart hurts for you both over this loss. May it ease your pain some how to know that your precious son is with Jesus now. He is reunited with loving family and has been made new. How radiant he must be with that beautiful red hair! I will continue to lift the three of you up in prayer.

“ To Mom, Dad and Zach-my time with Josh (and Zach) was so very rich. The last holistic session on BMT was filled with Josh's teasing me about the spider found in the lady's ear. He knew how creepy that was for me. I told him I would have nightmares about it if he continued talking about it, but he went on and on-it was his way, it was our way of connecting, teasing, taunting. I told him the next time we were together I was going to have lots of good, "uncreepy" news to share with him! I learned alot about respecting others over our many sessions-Josh was always very polite and grateful in our sessions together and of course I loved that touch helped take him away from the frustrations of life,even for a few short moments in a day. I am so very grateful he allowed me in his life-his memory will always shine bright in my mind and heart.

“ Lullabies

Daddy please don` t look so sad,

Mommy please don` t cry.

I am in the arms of Jesus

and He sings me lullabies.

Please do not try to question God,

don` t think He is unkind.

Don` t think He sent me to you and that

He changed His mind.

You see, I am special and I` m needed up above.

I` m the special child you gave Him,

the product of your love.

I` ll always be there with you.

So watch the sky at night.

Find the brightest star that` s gleaming.

That` s my halo` s brilliant light.

So Daddy please don` t look so sad.

Mommy please don` t cry.

I am in the arms of Jesus.

And He sings me lullabies.

~Author Unknown If you ever need to talk I am here. Thoughts and prayers for you all.XOXO....

“ Liz, my hear breaks for you all. I never got the pleasure of meeting Josh, but every trip that I made to Frankfort, I got to see the little red headed boys with smiling faces in the pictures on your desk, where the boys were Woody and Buzz on Halloween. I heard many wonderful things about him through you and through Facebook. I pray that God will comfort you, Mike and Zach during this time and the many days to come. When I think of Josh, I picture him in heaven running, playing and having a wonderful time, no more suffering, no more pain. Surrounded by Angels and loved ones that have gone before him. None of these words can take your pain away, but please know that I love you and I am praying for you. I am here is you need me for anything

“ My heart goes out to you and your family. I am so truly sorry for all you have to go through and continue to go through. Your sweet little boy can be with his grandpa and smile down on you all pain free. You and Mike are amazing and I hope you know how many of us care for you both and are here for your needs. I am just a call away and will continue to pray for all of you. Love to all....
