“ I think "Helen Keller" said it best, The best and most beautiful things in the world cannot be seen or even touched. They must be felt with the heart. Your heart reached out to so many.

Your memory and kindness will be with us always, your love, inspiration and caring are like seeds in the wind, touching those you helped and the generations to come, paying it forward!

In the darkest hours all will be come whole again. You are now pain free and looking down with grace and love on everyone you came in contact with. We will see you again Susie, know you won't ever be forgotten.

“ I love Susie and will miss her dearly. She was a good neighbor and a good friend... She was always willing to listen to a friend and even though she was burdened with various health issues she had a good sense of humor and still had compassion and the desire to help others. My heart is heavy for the family. I believe that Jesus was with her in the shadows and I believe she is free from pain and suffering.
