“ I had the pleasure of going to both Faith Baptist Church and to the Frankfort Altrusa Club with Nancy. She acted as our church secretary for years and was very active in our Altrusa Club. She always greeted you with the sweetest smile on her face. Members of our Altrusa Club are going to visitation today. Her grandson Brother Josh Rayborn is having the rival at our church this week. He preached the sermon yesterday and will take an active role in her funeral tomorrow. I told him at church yesterday that I could just picture Nancy proudly looking down from Heaven at him with that sweet smile on her face. I was very fond of Nancy and will miss her.

“ I will always treasure Nancy’s friendship. I loved working with her at Bald Knob! We had such great talks after school was out on the afternoons when I was at BK. I think our backgrounds of farming, love for Christ and church, and being from big families were common denominators in our friendship. She always asked about Steve, our children, and other family members. I loved hearing about her family, seeing grandchildren’s pictures, or when she would tell about by-gone days at Bald Knob. Technically, she was the secretary/bookkeeper at BK, but she was a teacher as much as any of us were as she was always giving instructions about something—whether it was helping students make change for the little school supply store, how to bandage a cut, how to change the ink in the copier, how to contact a student’s parents, pausing to stand for the pledge and national anthem, and on and on. She certainly showed love, patience, and kindness to each of us who walked in the door at Bald Knob School. My thoughts and prayers are with her sweet family. Thank your for sharing your wonderful Nancy with us.

“ To a lot of people Nancy was the secretary at Bald Knob to me she was my second mama we lived close to each other and Kenny her oldest son was my best friend we went to school together and as we got older double dated together Kenneth her husband worked with my dad and was responsible for saving his life when he was electrocuted on the job I know how much she loved her boys because I was a recipient of that same love she is going to be greatly missed by friends and family but she is today in Gods great prescience and will praising him forever
