“ I have so many memories. I remember the night ray and robin brought him to the house after he was born. I remember our great grandmother babysitting him and is climb in the play pen and play with him. When he started walking you had to hide/empty ashtrays because he wanted to eat ashes
He loved peanut butter mixed eith pancake syrup. He would come to the house and we would just talk about things. Ray Allen was more like a little brother than a cousin. I miss him do much and can't even begin to imagine life without him
