“ Little did I know when I entered Kirwan Tower for my second year at the University of Kentucky in 1970 that I would meet a man who would become one of my best friends for the rest of my life who I frequently refer to as my birthday twin.

On July 23, 1951, Richard was born in Michigan, and I was born in Louisville, Ky, In addition to both of us being Kirwan Tower residents for a year, we both loved music. He introduced me to music by Roxy Music and Lou Reed. I shared my enthusiasm for the Moody Blues, Pink Floyd and Jefferson Airplane. Of course, we loved the Beatles and for more than 50 years we would debate the music of the Fab Four. We went with dates to concerts at UK and to see Pink Floyd and the Moody Blues in Louisville.

Our careers and personal lives took us in different directions, but more than once, to quote Dylan, he gave me shelter from the storm. I always thought he would outlive me because he lived a healthy diet and I was a meat and potatoes guy.

Along with Deb, he attended my wedding in Martinsville, In. and retirement party. For me, this wonderful man will be forever young.
